Before comedian George Carlin died he told the truth about the American Dream in this 3 minute spot

"The politicians exist to give you a reason you have a choice. You don't. You have owners. They own you... they got you by the balls... they want obedient workers... it's a big club, and you ain't in it!... the table is tilted, the game is rigged... it's called an American dream, because you have to be asleep to believe it."
