Interesting science behind the concept of Thoughts Become Things/Law of Attraction - we are creating 90% of what we see all the time in our brains based on the beliefs we have.

The answer is yes - but not the way you might think.

Just watched the doco: 'Is Seeing Believing' by Horizon, on BI Pretty sure it will astound you.

The BBC link Is Seeing Believing? shows in Austria as (not available in your area) possibly also in other parts of Europe.
it can be found on youtube link below in six parts.

The doco is excellent. Top scientists presenting, in a cute, and clever way - that our minds only process ten percent of what's out there, and constructs the rest from the memory archives. In saying, most of what you think you are seeing is generated by Belief.

This doco presents, in a very clever way, things we have been to share over the years.

For instance: There is no colour out there.¹ Nothing has colour. And they prove it - right in front of our bedazzled eyes.

The leaves on the trees are not green. Our eyes take in the v:

packaged photons, and our brain gives them colour.

Same with sound - no sound out there - only frequencies.

The doco also presents many more astounding things to consider

So what is 'real'¹ - anything? Is it as the Sages say - all May

Is there anything out there - or is it as Jesus is quoted as :

³When you see the inner as the outer²

Or from the East: ³When the seer and seen are one."

As you may have noticed - I am not into writing at the moment

Lots coming up, but no energy to share at the moment.

I am experiencing some of the things being presented in this c and it is using a lot of energy. More later. Maybe.

Sending love, and the reminder - not to take things seriously

Please Note::

The material we send out is intended to be a reminder to keep at ourselves, our behaviour, and what may be going on around u

Of course we cannot be certain of the authenticity of anything so the suggestion is to investigate for yourself..
