I just learned some new feature of Google Translate <http://translate.google.com/>

- Translate words or sentences at <http://translate.google.com/>
- Translate webpages using the Google Translate toolbar
- Translate in regular Google Search box by using the keyword "translate" at the front of your search string.
- Translate Google search result with the translate link
- Over 50 languages are supported!

It seemed to do a good job translating the meaning. For a professional translation you would still want a human to review and edit the text.
