Happy Imbolc to everyone Feb 2nd - Imbolc is exactly halfway between Winter solstice and the spring equinox. And although it may not look like spring is coming with snow and ice on the ground the days are getting longer and now is a good time to make plans for your year. Imbolc is often celebrated with candles so think of lighting a special candle, curl up in a comfortable chair and write out or draw your plans.

For me in the Southern hemisphere today is Lammas - the early harvest of summer and a time to celebrate the bounty of the earth, especially corn and making corn dollies. Lammas is exactly halfway between Summer solstice and the fall equinox and the days here are starting to get shorter.
